Numb. 7286.

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Tuesday April 2. to Saturday April 6. 1734.

Whitehall, April 6.

THE following Addreſs has been preſented to his Majeſty by his Grace the Duke of Newcaſtle, one of his Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State. Which Addreſs his Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

YOUR Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the High Sheriff, Grand Jury, and Gentlemen of the County of Salop, moſt humbly congratulate your Majeſty, upon your wiſe Diſpoſal of the Princeſs Royal in Marriage with the Prince of Orange: Your Majeſty has in this purſued your uniform Conduct, in making the Intereſt of this Nation your firſt and greateſt Care.

We cannot but expreſs our Joy at the univerſal Satisfaction that appears among your Majeſty's Subjects upon this happy Occaſion, and that they are now ſenſible of the many and great Bleſſings this Nation has received from a Prince of the illuſtrious Houſe of Orange, our King of glorious Memory; the greateſt of which we eſteem his Care for the Continuance of them, by the Settlement of the Crown of theſe Realms upon your Royal Family.

May this Crown for ever ſit firm and eaſy upon you and your Poſterity, whilſt the Enemies of the Eſtabliſhment will continue the Contempt of Mankind: No ſpecious Pretences, or wicked Inſinuations of theirs, can ever delude us your moſt dutiful Subjects, or leſſen our unfeigned Affection and Obedience to your Majeſty. We feel our Liberties under your gentle Government, and cannot be perſwaded out of our Senſe of them by any Arts.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor and Commonalty of the City of York, has been preſented to his Majeſty by Sir William Milner, and Edward Thompſon, Eſq; their Repreſentatives in Parliament. Which Addreſs his Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor and Commonalty of the City of York.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WITH the greateſt Joy we congratulate your Majeſty on the Celebration of the happy Nuptials between his Serene Highneſs the Prince of Orange and her Highneſs the Princeſs Royal: Nuptials that portend to us the greateſt Bleſſings theſe Nations can either wiſh for or enjoy, by affording us the Proſpect of a more certain Continuance of your own Royal Houſe to us and our Poſterity, the only Security of our Religious and Civil Rights.

Upon this happy Occaſion we more particularly recollect the glorious Anceſtor of his Serene Highneſs, whoſe Memory muſt continue dear to us and our Poſterity, ſo long as the Love of Liberty, and a Regard to Religion, ſhall remain in the World. To him we owe the preſent Enjoyment of our Religion, Liberty and Properties; and to him we likewiſe owe your Majeſty, the Protector of them.

May the princely Virtues of this Royal Pair deſcend to their lateſt Poſterity; and may they be bleſs'd with a numerous Iſſue, who, like their Anceſtors, may continually ſhew that particular Regard to the Welfare of theſe Kingdoms, that future Ages may thereby know they could only derive their Original from your Majeſty and the great Naſſau.

On the 3d Inſtant the High Sheriff, Lord Lieutenant, Grand Jury, and other Gentlemen of the County of Surrey, met at the Town-Hall in Southwark, and went in a Body in their Coaches to St. James's, with the following moſt dutiful and loyal Addreſs of Congratulation to his Majeſty on the late Marriage of the Princeſs Royal with his moſt Serene Highneſs the Prince of Orange: His Majeſty received them very graciouſly; they had the Honour to kiſs his Hand, and he was pleaſed to confer the Honour of Knighthood on Maltis Ryall, Eſq; High Sheriff of the ſaid County.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble and unanimous Addreſs of the High Sheriff, Lord Lieutenant, Grand Jury, Juſtices of the Peace, and other Gentlemen of the County of Surrey, met at the General Aſſizes held at Kingſton upon Thames for the ſaid County on the 21ſt of March, 1733.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WITH the greateſt Humility, and with Hearts full of Joy, we congratulate your your Majeſty on the Alliance now perfected with the illuſtrious Houſe of Orange.

Your Majeſty has, by giving the Princeſs Royal in Marriage to the worthy Heir of the ever glorious King William, not only paid the higheſt Honours to that Family, but in ſome Degree recompenced the paternal Care he expreſſed for theſe Kingdoms, in ſettling the Succeſſion in your Royal Houſe.

We cannot ſufficiently extol your Majeſty's Wiſdom and Goodneſs, in carrying on the ſame extenſive and generous Deſigns of ſtrengthening the Proteſtant Intereſt in Europe, and providing for our future as well as preſent Happineſs.

With the utmoſt Pleaſure we obſerve, that your Subjects are ſo ſenſible of the Bleſſings they now enjoy, and which were derived to us from that happy Settlement of the Crown by your heroick Predeceſſor, that their only Contention is, who ſhall firſt and beſt expreſs their Affection to your Majeſty, join'd with the moſt grateful Remembrance of their original Benefactor.

May your Majeſty be ſo happy, as to match the remaining Branches of your Royal Family with equal Satisfaction, both to your ſelf and this Nation.

May all Endeavours to ſow Jealouſies between your Majeſty and your People prove abortive.

May we be long happy under the Bleſſings of your Reign, wherein we are protected both in our Civil and Religious Liberties.

And may your Majeſty and your Royal Conſort live to ſee a more numerous Progeny of Princes, who, like their glorious Anceſtors, may be the Ornaments as well as Defenders of the Proteſtant Religion, the Scourges of Tyrants, and the Aſſertors of the Rights and Liberties of Mankind.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Town and County of Poole, has been preſented to his Majeſty by George Trenchard, and Thomas Windham, Eſqrs. their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Right Honourable the Earl of Shaftesbury. Which Addreſs his Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgeſſes and Commonalty of your ancient and loyal Town and County of Poole, do with inexpreſſible Joy and Satisfaction humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the happy Nuptials of her moſt excellent Highneſs the Princeſs Royal, with his Serene Highneſs the Prince of Orange, a Branch of the ſame illuſtrious Family with our great and glorious Deliverer King William the Third, whoſe Memory is, and ever muſt be, very dear to this Nation.

That your Majeſty's mild and juſt Reign over us may be long and proſperous: That your Majeſty and your Royal Progeny may continue to be (ſo long as Time ſhall endure) the Aſſertors and Protectors of the Liberties of Europe, and the Grand Bulwark of the Proteſtant Religion; and that God will pleaſe to bleſs your Majeſty's Arms with Succeſs whenever you in your great Wiſdom ſhall think proper to uſe them, is continually the ſincere and fervent Prayers and Wiſhes of,

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

Poole, April 1, 1734. Your moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Jurats, Common Council, and principal Inhabitants of the Corporation of Graveſend and Milton, has been preſented to his Majeſty by the Mayor, being introduced by the moſt Honourable the Marquis of Middleſex. Which Addreſs his Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE the Mayor, Jurats, Common Council, and principal Inhabitants of the Corporation of Graveſend and Milton, moſt humbly beg Leave to approach your ſacred Majeſty upon the Marriage of the Princeſs Royal with a Prince of the illuſtrious Houſe of Naſſau, to which we of theſe Kingdoms owe the Preſervation of our Religion, Laws, and Liberties, together with the ineſtimable Bleſſing of our preſent happy Eſtabliſhment.

The Value and Regard we have for a Princeſs, adorned with ſo many and great Perfections, and ſo nearly allied to the Britiſh Throne, gives us an inexpreſſible Satisfaction upon ſo happy an Union: And it is with the utmoſt Pleaſure we behold your Majeſty's Goodneſs and conſummate Wiſdom, in the Choice of a Prince endeared to us, not only by his Birth and Religion, but by his own perſonal Virtues and high Accompliſhments.

As we have the Honour to be admitted into your Royal Preſence, we ſhould be wanting in common Gratitude did we paſs over in ſilence our Obligation to your Majeſty for thoſe extraordinary Marks of your Favour and Munificence, with which we of this Corporation were in a peculiar Manner diſtinguiſhed: And it is with the moſt unfeigned Sincerity that we joyn with the reſt of our Fellow-Subjects, on this pleaſing Occaſion, in congratulating your Majeſty upon the happy Concluſion of ſo deſirable an Alliance.

May your Majeſty long live to ſee the good Effects of ſuch wiſe Counſels! May the Houſe of Naſſau from this Union Flouriſh and be bleſſed with a numerous Iſſue! And may the Deſcendants of this illuſtrious Pair tranſmit the Virtues of both Houſes down to the lateſt Generations.

Dublin,

Dublin Caſtle, March 27.

This Day the Houſe of Commons of Ireland attended his Grace the Lord Lieutenant with an Addreſs to his Majeſty; which is as follows.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,
The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects the Commons of Ireland, beg Leave to offer our Congratulations upon the Concluſion of the Marriage between her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Royal and his Serene Highneſs the Prince of Orange. Your Majeſty's great Goodneſs and Diſcernment in this Diſpoſal of a moſt accompliſhed Princeſs to an illuſtrious Deſcendant of the Family of our glorious Deliverer, has juſtly filled all Parts of your Majeſty's Dominions with a Satisfaction that muſt extend it ſelf through every Nation concerned for the Preſervation of the Liberties of Europe.

We have had ſuch Experience of your Majeſty's Goodneſs to your Subjects, and have that Confidence in your Wiſdom and Conduct, that we will in all Inſtances endeavour to convince the World, how truly your Majeſty reigns in the Hearts of your People, and how firmly we are determined to ſupport and defend our moſt gracious Sovereign, and the Proteſtant Succeſſion in your Royal Houſe, the Foundation upon which our Rights, Liberties and Religion, only can ſubſiſt.

His Grace was pleaſed to return the Anſwer following,

I Will take the firſt Opportunity of laying this dutiful and loyal Addreſs before his Majeſty.
